handling her subject in a clear and perspicuous manner, Mrs. Bryner has a well-modulated voice and was clearly heard throughout the church. The speaker held that the best method of teaching temperance was not to emphasize the woes of intemperance, but to have boys and girls identify themselves with the varied temperance movements of the country. "Instead of magnifying the danger of intemperance, gather up the interesting and encouraging facts with regard to the

Mrs. Bryner called attention to the Mica and Glass Held Up.

Hundreds of ornamental post cards, containing lettering of ground glass and mica, are being held up in the Richmond post-office, under an order from the department, which forbids their going through the mails.

About twenty came in on one collection yesterday, and Postmaster Cabell says the office is receiving about nifty per day.

The German government was the first to exclude these cards, and it has now been taken up at Washington.

It is held, and can be easily demonstrated, that the mica and glass used as ornaments en these post cards is not only damaging to other mail matter, but as well injurious to the hands of the men who handle the cards.

Petition for Writ of Error in Henrico Treasurership Has

IT IS BASED ON FIVE POINTS

Assigns Several Grounds of Error. Petition Taken Under Advisement by Court.

Counsel for Mr. H. C. Hechler, treasurer of Henrico county, presented a petition to the Supreme Court yesterday for a writ of error and supersedess in the case which was heard bedeas in the case which was heard before Judge R. Carter Scott in the Henrico Circuit Court some weeks ago, which resulted in an order removing the treasurer from office on the ground of malfeasance. The petition is a voluminous document, covering the whole history of the case, and alleges five special points of error as ground or a new trial. With the petition was a complete bound copy of the record of the case, tegether with various exhibits, reports of special accountants hibits, reports of special accountants and a great mass of figures, the record in the case covering 171 pages of close typewriting.

typewriting.

The five grounds for a new hearing in the case, in which error is alleged ii. the former trial, are:

First. The court errod in not giving a trial by jury because the statute (821 Va.) entitles a man to a jury trial, or, if any other construction is put upon the wording of the statute, denying in any case a jury trial, then the statute is unconstitutional. The position goes on at some length to reside that the on at some length to recite that the proceedings in this case are of a quasi proceedings in this case are of a quasicriminal nature, the object being punishment by removal, not damages nor reparation as in the case of civil action.
It is argued, therefore, that the failure to provide a jury trial at some stage of the proceedings in criminal cases is against the Constitution of the State.

The second assignment of error is that the court was without jurisdiction to remove the petitioner under the proceedings had. The petition refers at length to Section 861 of the Code providing a specific remedy, fine and imprislength to Section 861 of the Code providing a specific remedy, fine and imprisonment after a conviction, the act applying to county treasurers only. The action under Section 821, without the indictment trial and finding by a jury, and without imposing the penalty provided by statutes is held by the attorneys to be an error.

Third. The finding of the court that the $6,057,52 of Todd money belonged to the county. Under this head the counsel raised the question of the ownership of the money collected from tax tickets due to the Todd estate, and held by the treasurer subject to the Fifth. That the judge refused to reopen the question for the hearing of after-discovered evidence.

Taken Under Advisement. The petition, together with the record of the case, were presented to Judges Keith and Cardwell yester-to Judges Keith and Cardwell yesterday, the court being in vacation, and was taken under advisement. It is hoped by the attorneys for Mr. Hechler that a writ of error can be secured this week in the case, as the thirty-day stay of proceedings granted by Judge Scott for an appeal. will expire on Monday, March 4th.

There is much discussion about the courthouse as to who will be appointed treasurer in the event that the Supreme Court refuses to grant a new trial. A number of candidates are in the field who will stand at the fall primary, and an interesting contest is assured.

A REAL COLONIAL TEA. Interesting Commemoration of Interesting Commemoration of Colonial Times.

The Colonial tea given by the Woman's Alliance in Library Hall, Highland Springs, Friday night, February 22d, was a charming function, and proved a success both socially and inancially.

Colonial dames and damsoly, highly girdled, patched and pompadoured, view with buckled and bowdered 'squires in exploiting the quaint graces of the Colonial costuming. The hatchet divided honors with the Star-Spangled banner in the decorations, and the viands on the table wore such as nourished the brain and brawn of the Father of his Country, who smiled down upon the scene from a banner overhead.

The program, mostly musical, was selected with a view to Colonial interests. Mr. and Mrs. Davis and Mr. Woodward, of Boston, sang old songs delightfully, supported by Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Read, Mr. Dudley and Mr. Wheeler. Readings and recitations followed.

The climax of the Colonial was resease.

The climax of the Colonial was resulted when Mrs, McDowell spun real flax, grown by her father in 1865, on a real spinning wheel of unguessable antiquity, Miss Julia mead carried of the hady's prize a can of cheries, and Mr. Harry Hardy was awarded the gentleman's prize, a big business-like hatchet.

All joined in singing "America," and the evening very fittingly ended in a Virginia real, which displayed ruffled shirts, knee breeches and empire draperies to the best advantage, and effectively rounded out an evening's reminiscence of "Ye Olden Tyme."
